

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

As I near the end of this always challenging, sometimes frustrating, but always enjoyable journey, it is only right to acknowledge those who have given of their time and efforts to guide me.

First and foremost, I would like to express my whole-hearted to my advisor, Dr. Chookiat Jarat, who has been so supportive, helping, understanding, and patient during all these years. Throughout my study, whenever I needed help, he was always there giving me guidance and directions. Without his professional mentoring and encouragement, I would not be able to finish my master's studies.

Thank you to my committee members who have been on this journey of "believing in my dreams" for me through times when I wondered (as I'm sure they did), will I ever make the progress with all the starts and stops my master's study has undertaken. Thank you for believing in me and your wonderful patience: Assistant Professor Dr. Nawamin Prachanant, who's creativity and ability to ask penetrating questions has always served as inspiration for an inquiring mind. I would also like to thank Dr. Surachai Piyanukool, who lent his support to my study as reader and clarifier. I am particularly thankful to Assistant Professor Dr. Prayad Poomkhokrak, who has been unwavering in his support and belief through all the trials of reaching this final point.

There is another to whom I would like to send my deepest appreciation, Assistant Professor Ruangsak Amphaipan, one of my research experts for guiding me to become a good researcher as well as instructor. He very often said “Where is evidence?” and “Show me your evidence!” whenever my arguments or explanations were not clear enough, and this has helped me critically think about myself and my research work. Also, he allowed me a good chance to design, conduct, and evaluate research helping me learn both how to work on my own research as an individual and how to cooperate with others in developing ideas as a team. Thanks to his guidance, support, and belief in me, I was able to make progress in my study and successfully complete my thesis.

I appreciate so much the help and support of my classmates, especially to Mr. Mok Sarom, Mrs. Wasana Boonnan, Mr. Ruangseen Chaothaisong, Mrs. Nualchan Thianwan, Mr. Praphan Thammawat for their help and feedback to this research.

I extend my special thanks and appreciation to many of my colleagues at Khetkarnthangsongkroh 5 School, who have shared with me an intellectual environment to work with. Your encouragement and support is an invaluable ingredient to my determination to accomplish this project.

Finally, my greatest debt of thanks must be to my family. Thanks to my husband, Suchart Kulkittiyanon, for your continued and unfailing love, support, and faith in me during my four years of being a graduate student. Thanks for taking up all the housework to set my mind at ease and help me focus on my studies. Thanks to Ju and Fai, the best son and daughter I could ever have, for your pride in mom and for your spending countless nights and weekends with mom in the lounge. Without you, my master and life can be meaningless.
